Micron and Alliance Relationship Structure

- Micron will use Alliance as its outlet to fulfill future legacy Fab-13 NOR Flash demand
 - Arrangement extends to a defined list of Fab-13 NOR MPNs
 - Existing Micron NCNR backlog will remain in place and will be fulfilled by Micron
 - Micron direct customers/distributors would place future orders with Alliance rather than Micron
 - If Micron receives a customer/distributor request for Fab-13 NOR, we will direct them to contact Alliance

- Using Alliance provides more flexibility to the customers and our distributors

Benefit	Why
Enables order taking of smaller quantity requests	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Alliance can consolidate several small quantity requests and place a larger demand order to Micron, avoiding what would have been rejected orders by Micron
Quicker fulfillment for new or upside orders	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Alliance will keep some stock on-hand for various MPNs, allowing quick fulfillment for some orders
Extended supply corridor	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Alliance will keep some stock of various MPNs past the June 2021 LTS date, enabling supply into CY22 and beyond which Micron would not have been able to supply
